1 Collaboration and Competition

You are welcome to use this coding environment to train your agent for the project. Follow the instructions below to get started!

1.0.1 1. Start the Environment

Run the next code cell to install a few packages. This line will take a few minutes to run!

In [1]: !pip -q install ./python

tensorflow 1.7.1 has requirement numpy>=1.13.3, but you'll have numpy 1.12.1 which is incompatible.
ipython 6.5.0 has requirement prompt-toolkit<2.0.0,>=1.0.15, but you'll have prompt-toolkit 2.0.0.

The environment is already saved in the Workspace and can be accessed at the file path provided below.

In [2]: import random
import torch

from collections import deque
import matplotlib.pyplot as plt % matplotlib inline

from ddpq_agent import Agent
from workspace_utils import active_session

In [3]: from unityagents import UnityEnvironment import numpy as np

env = UnityEnvironment(file_name="/data/Tennis_Linux_NoVis/Tennis")

INFO:unityagents:
'Academy' started successfully!
Unity Academy name: Academy
Number of Brains: 1

Unity brain name: TennisBrain

Environments contain brains which are responsible for deciding the actions of their associated agents. Here we check for the first brain available, and set it as the default brain we will be controlling from Python.

1.0.2 2. Examine the State and Action Spaces

In [5]: # reset the environment
env_info = env.reset(train_mode=True)[brain_name]

number of agents
num_agents = len(env_info.agents)
print('Number of agents:', num_agents)

size of each action
action_size = brain.vector_action_space_size print('Size of each action:', action_size)

examine the state space
states = env_info.vector_observations state_size = states.shape[1]
print('There are {} agents. Each observes a state with length: {}'.format(states.shape[0], state_size)) print('The state for the first agent looks like:', states[0])

The state for the first agent looks like: [ 0.          0.          0.          0.          0.
 0.          0.          0.          0.          0.          0.          0.
 0.          0.         -6.65278625 -1.5         -0.          0.]

6.83172083 6. -0. 0. ]

1.0.3 3. Take Random Actions in the Environment

In the next code cell, you will learn how to use the Python API to control the agent and receive feedback from the environment.

Note that in this coding environment, you will not be able to watch the agents while they are training, and you should set `train_mode=True` to restart the environment.

In [6]: for i in range(5):                                # play game for 5 episodes env_info = env.reset(train_mode=False)[brain_name] # reset the environment states = env_info.vector_observations              # get the current state (for scores = np.zeros(num_agents)                    # initialize the score (for e while True:
            actions = np.random.randn(num_agents, action_size) # select an action (for each actions = np.clip(actions, -1, 1)                # all actions between -1 and env_info = env.step(actions)[brain_name]         # send all actions to the env next_states = env_info.vector_observations        # get next state (for each ag rewards = env_info.rewards                       # get reward (for each agent) dones = env_info.local_done                      # see if episode finished scores += env_info.rewards                       # update the score (for each states = next_states                             # roll over states to next ti if np.any(dones):                                # exit loop if episode finish break
        print('Total score (averaged over agents) this episode: {}'.format(np.mean(scores)))

Total score (averaged over agents) this episode: -0.004999999888241291
Total score (averaged over agents) this episode: -0.004999999888241291
Total score (averaged over agents) this episode: -0.004999999888241291
Total score (averaged over agents) this episode: -0.004999999888241291
Total score (averaged over agents) this episode: 0.04500000085681677

When finished, you can close the environment.

In [7]: # env.close()

1.0.4 4. It's Your Turn!

Now it's your turn to train your own agent to solve the environment! A few important notes: - When training the environment, set `train_mode=True`, so that the line for resetting the environment looks like the following:

env_info = env.reset(train_mode=True)[brain_name]

- To structure your work, you're welcome to work directly in this Jupyter notebook, or you might like to start over with a new file! You can see the list of files in the workspace by clicking on Jupyter in the top left corner of the notebook.

- In this coding environment, you will not be able to watch the agents while they are training. However, after training the agents, you can download the saved model weights to watch the agents on your own machine!

1.1 Model training

In [8]: SEED = 0

In [9]: agent = Agent(state_size=state_size, action_size=action_size, random_seed=SEED)

2 Training report

The model is trained using DDPG network. DDPG is an actor-critic network that is used to mitigate the limitation of Deep Q Networks (DQN) which is not good for continuous action space. - Actor network approximates the optimal policy to output best believed action for the given state. Critic network evaluates the optimal action value function using the best believed action from the actor network. - DDPG uses two copies of network weights for both actor and critic, one for regular network and another one for target network. Both actor and critic has one regular network and one target network. We train the regular network, and use the target network for prediction to stabilize the training. - DDPG uses two main components, soft updates and replay buffer. Through soft updates, target network is updated with regular network weights i.e $\sim 0.01\%$ of regular network weights are blended into target networks.

The network took longer time to solve the environment and this can be reduced by selecting better hyper-parameters. In addition, over the training time the agent was not stable in learning the environment and it started to learn after 6000 episodes.

3 Future work

- Train the network using other algorithms such as MADDPG, PPO to solve the environment
- Max-out the timesteps for each episode instead of using fixed timesteps
- Experiment with other hyper-parameters and optimize the network to solve in fewer episodes. Run hyper-parameters search to find the better ones.
